"The Japanese vice-consul is an edicated Christian gentlemen, cial positivo as a representative of a great nation establishes his social standing and makes him eligible for membership in the Massane and other highigrade orders, in all plates runnosed of mentlemen; in short, the present Japanese ware consul, personally and officially, would be welcome as a member of my American or forego organization presided over by men instead of mollycolddes.

"It would be improper for the writer, an invisitor and a United States officer, to criticize purely local institutions of Huwwii. But the present affair, despirable though it be, has more than local significance. If unchallenged by other than Hawaiian citizens if then stands us a blot on American institutions, on American Christianity, on American manhood,

 The Y. M. C. A., as the writer understands it, is an American : The Hawaiian branch is not a Hawaiian Y. M. C. A., but a branch of the question as to whether the ex-American V. M. C. A. Being such a branch any official action by it, discounty traderitorial rights of the United able or otherwise, must reflect discredit or otherwise on the association as a States shall be recognized under the

But this is not the place to pursue that subject further than to reiterate the opinion formerly expressed by The Advertiser, that the socialed anti-Japanese feedbar in the States does not represent true American sentiment, but a false semiment amon ating mostly from the grafting, hoodhun politicians of California, and fanned into flame by several of the yellow newspapers of the Pacific Const

"From its nearness to Japan, Hawaii is in a more responsible towards that nation than perhaps any other American state, even than Califor nia. Any discumstances affecting persons of both nations may assume international significance at a moment's notice; while the same occurring in the U. S. officials in Hawniz, and Japanese subjects and officials, to so conduct them selves us not to cause embarms sment to the Frespective Governments. Einthermore, where it can be done with dignity, all respectable Americans and Japanese in Hawaii should endeavor to do what each can to allay any irritation that

"The application of the Japanese vice consul for membership in the Hawarian branch of the Y. M. C. A. presented a fine opportunity for an action which might have gone a long way towards restoring amity and communion of in terests between local Americans and Japanese. But the gentlemen of the mem [8por bershir committee were not big enough to realize their apportunity. Like these of serptural fame they were weighed in the balance and found wanting. With incredible stapidity they rejected the applicant because of his nationality!

Unfortunately in this instance the blunderers are not the only sufferers. Perhaps they still believe that their action was wise and Christian. But in any ease the Y. M. C. A., the citizens of Hawali, the United States officers on duty in Hawwii, and all Americans, must share in some measure the odium, the ignominy, of this transaction."

SILVER LINING TO THE CLOUD.

The San Francisco Argonaut sees considerable silver barry to the cloud that has for the time being obscured mainland Republicans. In commenting on the recent election results, that periodical says:

"The Republican party, we think, had gotten in shape for a knockout even before the return of the Rough Rider: Congress had accepted the leadership of men in whom the country had lost confidence, men who spenty repudiated any abligation in the matter of positive party pledge. Even the President, sincere and worthy man that he is, had been brought to the ruinous course of accepting and attempting to justify a moral defidention by the matter of thrift legislation Party courses, too, likel falles into degeneracy up servest at the more passerner In New York the party argamication made the pull concept had be come the agent of sheater purposes and and summercely assumed the role of spologist the official elementality metably in the Albis etc. In Miche the part

RECORD OF TWENTIETH.

The Twentieth Infantry, a part of which is stationed at present in Maula, has a record of which they can be justly proud, says the Manila Times. Since their organization, in 1866, to the present time, there have been eighteen officers in the regiment who have besome general officers—one Lentenantpeneral, six major-generals, and eleven is gadiers. Furthermore, every colonel to the present time has become a gencan boast of as much. The various commanding officers and the rank they as at sen at connection with the arrest timally attained are as follows: Fredsyles, major-general; E well Stephen oris, major-general; William Henry point at issue relates to the extraterri Pearose, brigadier-general; Hamilton He certainly did not become Kameha where he so earnestly desires to ge Smith Hawkins, major-general; John meha II. WHAT CROWN PRINCE WENT TO BOSTON?

Archivist Lydecker Points Out a Discrepancy in Advertiser's Historical Find.

Editor Advertisor:-Commenting on the interesting letter of James G. Swan, grown to late Hawaiian consul at Port Townsend, must have been the heir of some of Washington, published in The Sunday Hawaii or ling. He certainly was no Advertiser of this date, the reviewer states that the so called erown prince, tion, and who arrived at Boston in the ship Columbia, Angust 10, 1790, later became Kamehameha II. Mr. Swan's letter states that the Columbia was here in 1789. Liboliho, afterwards Kamehameha II., was not born until 1797, and was proclaimed as heirpharent five years later.
